Depending on your needs your healthcare professional may have advised you to use a feeding pump. If you have been given this advice your Homeward Nurse will train you how to use the pump and be able to help with any questions.

Nutricia Homeward loan the feeding pumps to those who need them; if for any reason you should no longer need the pump, it's really important you return it to us so we can service it and give to someone who does. Your Nutricia Homeward Patient Services team will be able to arrange a collection, or provide you with a freepost envelope.
